

Marketing is a Creative Process

What would happen if you gave yourself permission to do marketing your way?
What if you could let go of some of the “shoulds” & your fear of rejection?

Write words or phrases in the circles that reflect the following:

- what marketing with integrity means to you
 - what things delight you in marketing
 - how you would feel if you could market your business without anxiety
- And then make it beautiful, play with color!

The Marketing Like We're Human is a 8-week virtual training program that reveals an unconventional approach to marketing so that you can grow a business that is inspiring and uplifting because it is aligned with your truth rather than stress, hardship and discomfort..

Find out more at www.humane.marketing/program